

STATE HIGHWAY ENGINEER ARRIVES FOR COUNTY WORK

The county engineers, McClelland and Purnell, have finished the field engineering work on the second half of the road from Chambers Creek east and also the Navarro lateral road in Consolidated Road District No. 1 and the work on the plans are in progress at the present time, it was learned Thursday.

The next lateral road to be considered will probably be the Chatfield and Bazette roads.

J. W. Alger, representative on the part of the State Highway Department and the Federal Department, has arrived in Corsicana and will make his headquarters on the third floor of the Navarro county courthouse with McClelland and Purnell, county engineers. He will look after the interests of the State Department on the State highways in Consolidated Road District No. 1.

Preliminary work on the State highways will be taken up immediately, it was intimated Thursday. As soon as the right of way work is completed, Navarro county, using the equipment of Precinct No. 1, will begin the work on the dump and drainage structure of the lateral road from the State Orphan Home toward Drane, County Judge Hicks stated Thursday.

Rev. M. J. Parnell, pastor of the Methodist Protestant church, was returned here again as pastor by the Annual Texas Conference of that denomination held at Cooper last week. Rev. Mr. Parnell is popular with his congregation as was shown when the church voted unanimously to ask for his return.

Rev. Mr. Parnell and Mrs. Cora Miller were delegates to the conference from this church. They report much activity and advancement of the church work during the past year throughout the conference.

FORMER CONVICT HELD CONNECTION TEXAS CITY HOLDUP

By Associated Press.
Galveston, Texas, Nov. 3. (Shilo) Scrivener was identified today as one of the robbers who held up the First National Bank of Texas City Tuesday afternoon, escaping with $6,000 in cash.

The identification was made by Chester M. Griffin, cashier, and Miss Elizabeth Lage, clerk, who were locked in the vault of the bank by the bandits.

Scrivener was arrested in Houston last night and brought to the Galveston county jail early this morning.

Mr. Griffin and Miss Lage came to Galveston today and were asked to pick out any man resembling one of the robbers from among a number of prisoners who were marched by them. Both pointed to Scrivener and were emphatic in their declarations that he was one of the robbers.

Scrivener told reporters at the jail that he had no memory of the crime.

A charge of robbery by force was filed against Scrivener by Sheriff R. E. Ehl, who was largely instrumental in effecting his arrest.

Ladies' Texas, Nov. 3. (Shilo) Scrivener, formerly of Dallas, has had so many run-ins with the law that he is now being held in the Texas City jail. He was arrested when he was last seen in Dallas, Texas, after being held in the Texas City jail for some time.

Scrivener first ran foul of the law after the sensational San Antonio robbery twelve years ago for which he and a companion were sentenced to 50 years in the penitentiary.

Escaping in 1920, he participated in the $200,000 robbery of the Jackson Street post office here, acting as driver of the automobile in which the bandits made their getaway.

HOLLAND MERCHANT BURNED DEATH EARLY THURSDAY MORNING

By Associated Press.
Temple, Texas, Nov. 3. Sam Barton, 46, was found dead today in the charred ruins of his drug store at Holland, 18 miles south of here, which was destroyed by fire shortly before daylight, according to reports here.

The fire also destroyed the old building of the First State Bank of Holland, causing total loss of about $17,500. Its origin was undetermined, although nearby residents said they heard what they thought was an explosion shortly before the alarm was sounded.

Mrs. Barton said her husband was unable to sleep last night and went to his place of business about 1 a. m. to work on his books.

Later officers expressed belief that Barton was murdered and the store burned, basing this opinion on reports of several persons who heard an explosion and an automobile speed away from the place just before the fire was discovered.

Barton and his wife drove to their home from Dallas Wednesday night.

When the fire broke out, Worth County Sheriff James E. Ehl, who is in charge of the investigation of the case, said he had no doubt that Barton was murdered.

When the fire broke out, Barton was in the store, which was a well-known place in the community. He was a merchant and a member of the Holland community.

CONTRACT LET FOR STATE ORPHAN HOME REMODELING WORK

Austin, Texas, Nov. 1. (Bally) Burns & Fitzpatrick of Dallas were given the contract Monday by the Board of Control to remodel and repair buildings at the State Orphan Home at Corsicana, to cost $26,100. Bids to enlarge and remodel the administration building were rejected because of insufficient appropriations. The Legislature appropriated $15,000 for the first year and $25,000 for the second year, commencing Sept. 1, 1928, for repairs, remodeling and the purchase of twenty-one and one-half acres of land. The bids and the price of the land exceeded the appropriation.

CALM ATMOSPHERE SURROUNDS PROBE FALL SINCLAIR CASE

By Associated Press.
Washington, Nov. 3. In an atmosphere of calm which contrasted sharply with the tense excitement of the last two days of the Fall-Sinclair oil conspiracy trial, the government today proceeded to lay before a grand jury the evidence which led up to the dramatic termination of the effort to place the Teapot Dome case in the hands of a jury.

With charges that Burns detected in the employ of Harry F. Sinclair had attempted to gain control with jurors and that one of the jurors had boasted that he expected material gain from a verdict in the case, the government had already placed testimony before the inquisitorial body in affidavit form.

Today, as a result of new leads developed in the case, the prosecution turned temporarily from its plans to have all of the jurors whose dismissal was ordered yesterday appear for questioning, and turned to others, including Mark E. Thompson, of New Mexico, one of the counsel for Albert B. Fall, whose case of the naval oil reserves, Sinclair brought about indictment of the two men. Thompson did his own share to do with a personal telephone call to Denck Jackson, an assistant attorney general.

Neither the Fall attorney or Mr. Jackson would go further than to say the call was personal, declaring that to do would be in disregard of court procedure. Mr. Jackson was not called, but said at his approaching session of Congress that the telephone conversation had nothing to do with the oil case.

After Thompson had left the grand jury room, A. Mason Fay, president of the Sinclair Refining Company, and to whom the government charged the Burns activities, was re-called.

On yesterday he declared he had refused to answer questions on the ground that to do so might incriminate him. It was indicated that he would later be taken before a justice of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia to repeat his refusal and such a procedure would in the ordinary course call for action against him before a United States Commissioner.

Edward J. Kidwell, juror No. 11, whose alleged talkativeness as to what he expected to gain from the trial, furnished part of the evidence in which the mistrial was based, appeared again today for further questioning, accompanied by his father, but remained in the jury room only a brief period. He is expected to be recalled.

FOUR MEN ROBBED FIRST STATE BANK TEHUACANA TODAY

Special to the Sun.
Tehuacana, Texas, Nov. 3. —Four men held up the First State Bank of Tehuacana here at 3:15 o'clock Thursday afternoon and escaped with an undetermined amount of money.

O. D. Hallum, cashier of the bank, was in the bank alone at the time. He was forced into the vault.

The four men escaped in an old Ford Sedan toward Corsicana.

B. B. Nowlin, a resident of Tehuacana, walked into the bank just as the daring daylight robbery was completed.

NONE SPARED WHO OPPOSED FARM BILL IN RECENT CONGRESS

St. Louis, Nov. 3. Sherrill, who opposed the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill, agriculture loan bill from the Southwest and Central States, closed their two-day meeting here yesterday with threats of a third party, and attack on the administration, and a statement of their wants from the approaching session of Congress. They left in their wake a set of resolutions endorsing the McNary-Haugen bill and attacking many others, Senator Borah of Idaho, Fred of Missouri, Fess of Ohio and Bruce of Maryland as opponents of farm relief legislation.

Discussing presidential possibilities freely, the farm leaders named none as their choice, although the name of former Governor Frank O. Lowden was applauded freely in the discussions.

"Favorite son and forlorn hope" candidates should be avoided, the resolutions said, so that agriculture may settle upon candidates with a chance of nomination.

Blame for the failure of farm relief legislation was laid at the door of President Coolidge who vetoed the McNary-Haugen bill.

Criticism of Secretary of Agriculture J. C. Ward as a "tool" of the President also was heard in the convention.

Suggestions of a new party while not mentioned in the resolutions, came from Charles P. Truax, director of agriculture of Ohio, who said, "Political parties have been formed on issues less vital than the burning of demands for farm relief legislation."

Truax also warned the farmers to "look with suspicion" on any farm relief plans formulated by the administration or the four Senators.

WHY NOT GET IN DEBT TO YOURSELF

It is a matter of general observation that most folks save most when they are obliged to. The whole secret is that it seems easier to SAVE when you know you have a certain obligation to meet on a certain date. Then, why wouldn't it pay you to get in debt to yourself? In other words, why not come in and open a savings account today — then pay yourself first, each pay day, and do it regularly?

A GREAT NATIONAL BODY

It is of more than passing interest that the Young Men's Christian Association has passed the 1,000,000 mark in membership, and $57,000,000 a year is its annual budget. The numerical strength of the organization is a measure of the vast opportunity it has for valuable work to strengthen the physical and psychological fibre of coming citizenship. In a nation in which leadership must be developed from the rank and file, obviously here lies immeasurable field for thoughtful training of young men in self-study and self help.

The budgetary end of the statement, setting the sum available for Y. M. C. A. work during the past year at more than $57,000,000, is a measure of the resources applicable to the human material coming within the field of influence of the organization. With 1,000,000 members and $57,000,000 surely important results must eventually be produced.

Character-building is more important than any other social obligation. The United States and Canada owe a social debt to the Y. M. C. A. for undertaking this great task in the two countries. It is valuable, not only as a producer of better citizens for both of them, but as a promoter of better feeling between them, a factor in establishing good will more and more solidly upon the already firm basis of its century of uninterrupted existence.

And while talking about the Y. M. C. A. in general the local organization should be mentioned. Corsicana boasts one of the best Y. M. C. A. plants in the state. It is a social center of the city and is accomplishing much in character building of the citizens of the future. The Corsicana Y. M. C. A. is doing its part in the national organization and it is such links in the Y. M. C. A. chain as the Corsicana Y. M. C. A. that is responsible for efficiency of the National organization. The individual citizen is doing nothing but his duty when he supports his local Y. M. C. A.

KNOW TEXAS

Public schools of Texas, including elementary high schools, received approximately forty-five percent of their support from state sources, the remainder coming from local sources.

There are approximately 1,000 independent school districts and 7,500 common school districts in Texas.

The number of children in Texas of school age is about 1,348,635.

The State of Texas during the school year 1925-26 spent for free text books $2,819,261.

HERE'S A COW LESSON

When the state of Connecticut condemned a right of way for a road across a certain cow pasture, the owner demanded $100,000 for his cows. The state conceded the justice of his claim and dug a tunnel under the pasture through which the herd could pass in safety from one part of their feeding ground to the other, thus saving the state of Connecticut the thought for the lives and convenience of a few dumb animals a considerable expense.

It is a good deal safer, evidently, to be a cow in Connecticut than a human being in any one of the leading cities in the United States. The Department of Commerce itself keeps official score of the automobile killings in the country, reports that during the four weeks ending October 8, motor accidents took 662 lives in seventy-seven different cities whose fatalities are regularly reported.

The rate of slaughter is not exceptional for the time of year. About the same number were killed during September the year before. More killed in November. Month by month there is a little variation depending upon the condition of the streets and the number of people expected to travel them. Some-time there will come a great popular demand that the traffic problem of great cities be solved with due regard to the lives of people. This provision that the state of Connecticut has made for a few cows may point to a practical solution.

THE HOLE IN A LAW

It looks like there were a hole in the anti-trust film law big enough to drive a fleet of ten-ton trucks through. Judge Henry W. Goddard, sitting in the United States District Court in New York, has ruled that exhibitors receiving the films from persons other than common carriers or through the mail may display them without violating the federal law.

The judge apparently has read the law itself. The provision which appears as Section 9945 in Barnes' Federal Code declares that it shall be unlawful for any person to deposit in the mails for delivery or to deposit with any express company or other common carrier any prize fight film to be transported from one state to another. The law also says that it shall be unlawful for any person "to send or carry" from one state to another any such film. The part of the section completing the prohibition of the movement of such films makes it illegal to receive from the mails or from an express company or common carrier any such articles that have been deposited in interstate commerce.

As this prohibition does not extend to receiving from a private messenger a film carried from one state to another, the judge has concluded that the law is directed exclusively against the transportation of the films by the regular and established means of transportation. If his conclusion is sustained by the higher courts, the law will become a dead letter. There will, of course, be an appeal. In the meantime, exhibitors are displaying the films, and the producers will send them about the country by private messengers in their own motorcars, which are not yet instruments in interstate commerce.

THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

It sounds too much like business to say "Do Your Christmas Shopping Early." The slogan in all colors and types will be found in stores throughout the city. Shelves are being stocked with fragile packages, windows are being decorated with Christmas goods and then, there's the sign: "Do Your Christmas Shopping Early."

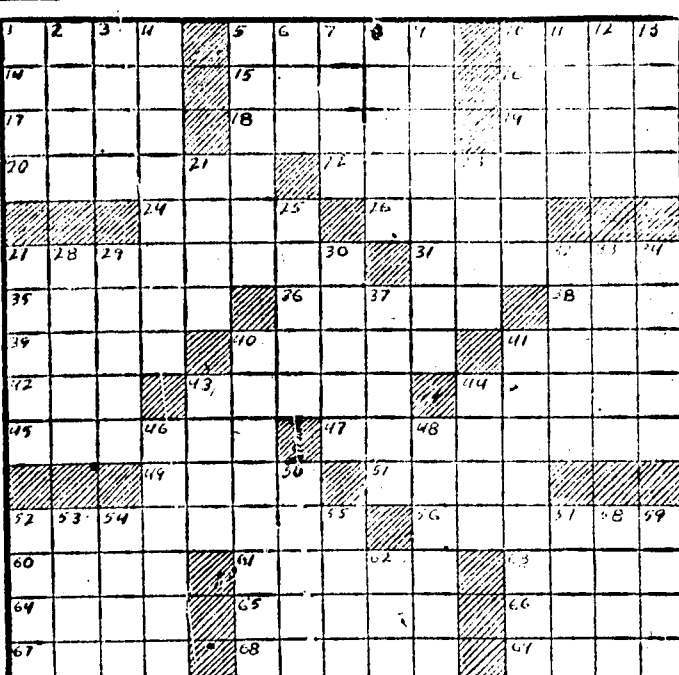

Every year the week before Christmas is a nightmare to hundreds of people who have done no wrong other than to attempt to earn a living by serving their fellow human beings. Christmas finds many shop girls too tired to appreciate, even to understand the glad tidings which the season is supposed to bring. Some are nervous wrecks from overwork. Mail clerks and carriers share the burden.

Indiscriminate giving is worse than receiving. It is not the value of the gift that counts but the spirit of good will back of it. A photograph sometimes is far more appropriate and welcome than a motor car. Clerks, mail men, delivery boys, indeed, a large proportion of your neighbors, would appreciate a gift which costs nothing. Do your shopping now and you will save wear and tear on your nerves, will be given more time and consideration, and in addition win the gratitude of hundreds of other men and women.

The two big business mouths of the year have arrived. It is up to the merchant whether or not he gets his share of the business. A good cotton crop has been made which is bringing a good price. There is plenty of money in circulation. But, the merchant must make an effort to get business even if it costs him a little money to do it.

Our neighboring city to the south, Mexico, now boasts a wonderful new municipal auditorium of which any city would be proud. Every city of any size should have such a building and we know of no other city in the state in which there is a greater need for an auditorium than Corsicana.

Breaks: Something or other in football that explains why the expert's selection was walloped 68-2. Any legitimate attraction that will draw visitors to our city is a good thing for Corsicana.

Resolutions of Respect.
Whereas, we, the members of Camp C. M. Winkler, Confederate Veterans, Corsicana, do feel that we have recently been bereft of one of our best friends in the loss by death of Mr. Gus Hoover, general agent for the passenger department of the Cotton Belt R. R.

Whereas, we, aged and infirm veterans deeply appreciate any kindness or courtesy shown us by any organization or individual for our comfort or pleasure, and

Whereas, Mr. Hoover, being enabled by his official position to lend aid to us, took advantage of his great opportunity for service during the annual National reunions of the U. C. V., and

Whereas, we feel that not only has this camp lost a good friend, but that many camps in this section of our state will feel keenly the loss of the one who rendered such splendid services for them and spread so much sunshine on his excursion trains, therefore be it Resolved, That we, the members of Camp C. M. Winkler, Confederate Veterans, do dedicate these lines in love and respect to our departed friend. Be it further

Resolved, That we, the members of this camp, do hereby place on permanent keeping in the archives of Camp C. M. Winkler, No. 147, that another copy be given the Corsicana Daily Sun for publication, and another copy be given the family of the deceased.

TURKEYS — TURKEYS

Remember we must have all the turkeys intended for Thanksgiving by big Eastern markets by Saturday, Nov. 12th—after this will be too late. Sell your hen turkeys intended for Thanksgiving by this time for if have to go to freezer account selling late will be bought for less than young toms but if sold by twelfth will bring as much as young toms.

Do not market hen turkeys under eight pounds and young toms under twelve but keep light weight for Christmas market. Such small per cent of crop will be ready for Thanksgiving and dealers lost so heavy on last Christmas high priced turkeys we do not think Christmas market will be as good as Thanksgiving on good stock. Sell your good ones new or at least part of them.

HENS—Hold hens for about Christmas week as no market worth while on chicken hens now and will be good in Jan.

TWO UNMASKED MEN SECURED $8500 IN SOUTH TEXAS TODAY

By Associated Press.

Galveston, Texas, Nov. 1.—Two unmasked men held up the First National Bank at Texas City this afternoon, obtained loot estimated at about $8,500 and escaped, after locking the cashier and a girl in the vault.

Chester M. Griffin, cashier, and Miss Elizabeth Lege, clerk, were alone in the bank when two men entered the bank at 1:45 o'clock this afternoon.

Mr. Griffin said he first became aware of the bandits' presence when he looked up to find a pair of pistols covering him.

The bandits working swiftly forced Mr. Griffin and Miss Lege to enter the vault. They took all of the currency in the till and a large amount from the vault, locked the door and fled. The robbery consumed only about four minutes.

CASE SUDDENLY HALTED AS JUDGE HEARS CHARGES

By Associated Press.

Washington, Nov. 1.—Allegations of improper "shadowing" of jurors by detectives alleged to have been employed by Harry F. Sinclair were laid before the judge hearing the Fall-Sinclair Teapot Dome conspiracy case today and at the same time were placed in the hands of a grand jury.

Government counsel charged the result in a mistrial taking the conspiracy case out of the hands of the present jury, and to start in addition a new offshoot from the celebrated oil scandal. Neither Justice Siddons nor the grand jury was ready today, however, to make any decision. Both proceedings are expected to reach the point of action tomorrow.

By Associated Press.

Washington, Nov. 1.—The Fall-Sinclair conspiracy case was adjourned until tomorrow without Justice Siddons announcing what action he would take on the charges of jury irregularities made by government counsel.

Hundreds of rumors surcharged the tense atmosphere about the court house. One of these was that the government's case might reach into a new and surprising quarter. Another was that two of the jurors were under surveillance by deputy marshals pending a report of the grand jury.

Washington, Nov. 1.—Charges that one juror talked indiscreetly about the case and that a detective agency had been keeping jurors under close observation were contained in the affidavits filed by the government counsel today in the Fall-Sinclair oil conspiracy case.

The juror named was Edward Kidwell, and he was quoted in one affidavit with having expressed great admiration for Harry F. Sinclair, one of the defendants, and with having said in response to a question that he would be disappointed if he did not soon come into possession of "a car as long as the block."

Kidwell, who is a 31-year-old leather worker, also was alleged to have predicted that "they are going to hang the jury." Others of the affidavits declared that detectives of the Burns Agency had the trial jury under "close, intimate, objectionable and improper surveillance."

One affidavit signed by Neil Burkinshaw, an assistant district attorney, gave it as Burkinshaw's judgment after investigation that the real employer of the detective was Harry F. Sinclair.

Besides Burkinshaw, those who made affidavits were Walter M. Shea, another assistant district attorney; J. Ray Akers, a street car conductor; and Donald T. King, a reporter for the Washington Herald.

Burkinshaw and Shea related how they had caused a search to be made of a room in Wardman Park Hotel occupied by Charles C. Duddy and C. H. Robbins, manager and assistant manager, of the Burns Agency. The affidavits said Ruddy was in touch with a "Client," A. Mason Day, registered at Wardman Park, where Sinclair also is a guest.

The two Burns men were alleged to have been rendering their reports to Day at the home of Donald Woodward, president of Woodward & Lothrop, one of Washington's largest department stores.

A. Mason Day is vice president of the Sinclair Exploration Company.

The allegations about Kidwell came first from Akers. He gave the information to King, who then relayed it to the juror. He said in his affidavit that Kidwell remarked that he had been selected as a juror because he was "a pretty good yes and no man" and that "these smart lawyers" could not make him say what he didn't want to say. The juror also was quoted as having said he was "getting his $5 a day" for jury service and "was not paying a whole lot of attention to what was going on."

Akers corroborated the King testimony.

In the search of the detectives' hotel room, the assistant district attorney said they discovered reports showing a concentration of detectives here, and that it was shown that each of the jurors camped in the case was "under surveillance for various lengths of time, with the sole exception of juror No. 6, Robert C. Flora.

These detectives were said to have begun their work the day the jury was sworn in, ascertaining among other things to whom the jurors talked, where they visited and the license number of cars in which they rode.

The two assistant district attorneys swore that in Ruddy's room they found documents showing that he frequently was in touch with the "client" taking instructions from him and that he obtained quarters at the hotel to be "nearer the client's home and out of the beaten path."

In one instance the affidavit said, the operatives had investigated the ownership of a home by a juror, whether it was mortgaged, and who held the mortgage. It was alleged also that investigation was made into the financial condition of a man who resided next door to a juror, "all for the purpose of establishing a point of contact with the juror in question."

The detective reports were said to have shown that large sums of expense money were given to the juror in some instances running as high as $25 for a single day. All jurors were constantly shadowed, it was charged, and in one instance a detective took a room in the same house with a juror.

By Associated Press.

Washington, Nov. 1.—Information pointing to a possible mistrial in the Teapot Dome oil conspiracy case was taken under advisement by Justice Siddons today after he had been in secret conference for three-quarters of an hour with the attorneys and defendants.

Both Harry F. Sinclair and Albert B. Fall were present at the meeting of judge and counsel in the Justice's private offices. Meantime the jury which has not been locked up during the trial, was put under guard in a nearby room. When the judge's conference broke up, however, and court adjourned for lunch, Justice Siddons ordered that the jurors be permitted to go free, as usual, until the afternoon session.

Just after court recessed, it became known that the government already had taken steps to bring to the attention of a grand jury the charges it had presented to Justice Siddons.

It was indicated that several affidavits had been put before the judge, and that they related to the secret council chamber, while a reinforced squad of deputy marshals watched the jury of ten men and two women under lock and key in a room nearby.

It was the first time in twelve days of the trial that the jurors had been kept in confinement, for the statutes of the District of Columbia do not require that jurors be under the charge of bailiffs while a trial is in progress. Sinclair remained in Justice Siddons' chamber for more than half an hour. Fall was not summoned.

All sorts of rumors about the latest development, spread among the milling spectators in the court corridors, but all were without verification as government attorneys had carefully guarded the contents of the affidavits presented to Justice Siddons.

Mistrial Is Indicated
Washington, Nov. 1.—A move involving the possibility of a mistrial in the Fall-Sinclair Teapot Dome conspiracy trial was made by government counsel as soon as court convened today.

Former Senator Pomerene of special oil counsel told the court that the government had a matter to present which gave counsel "the very gravest concern."

Replying to a question from Justice Siddons, he said: "My thought is that it should not be presented in the presence of the jury."

It was agreed that court take a recess, and permit counsel to present the matter in chambers. The jury fled out to its ante-room in charge of deputy marshals and counsel followed the Justice to his chambers.

The nature of the information to be laid before the Justice was not disclosed by the government attorneys, but there was every indication about the court room that it included affidavits which involved at least one of the jurors.

A mistrial which would be the natural sequence of such affidavits, would mean that all that has been done to build up the case against former secretary Albert B. Fall and Harry F. Sinclair, would have to be done over again before a new jury.

The stroke came just as the government was drawing toward a conclusion the evidence on which it hoped to prove that certain bonds passed from the Sinclair interests to Fall soon after the then interior secretary signed a lease turning the Teapot Dome oil reserve over to a Sinclair company.

Sinclair was summoned to Justice Siddons' chambers after government counsel had presented the affidavits. He was accompanied by his personal lawyer, George Stanford.

After Sinclair went into the room several of the assistant district attorneys who investigated the case were summoned. These included Neil Burkinshaw who had direct charge of the inquiry since its inception.

Meantime several deputy marshals reinforced the one who usually was in charge of the jury while out of session.

Shades on long windows in adjoining corridors were drawn so that passers-by could not even have a glimpse of these who now hold the spotlight in the trial.

FALL FESTIVAL TO BE HELD CORSICANA WEEK OF NOV. 14TH

A "Fall Festival Week" for Corsicana was assumed for the week of November 14th by the action of representative business men at a mass meeting held at the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in response to a call issued by President Sydney Marks of the Chamber of Commerce. The project will be conducted in conjunction with the Shrine Circus which will be featured by Bob Morton's entertainment.

Following the adoption of the motion to undertake the enterprise, a motion was made to start raising the necessary funds for the entertainment and prizes, and a substantial start of $675 was subscribed within a few minutes time. President Sydney Marks presided.

ed at the meeting and briefly outlined the program as suggested by the committee which has been considering the project. He was followed by Clyde Foster, Lowry Martin and T. J. York, all of whom suggested that it was time for Corsicana to take this progressive step.

It was announced that a finance committee would be appointed at once and that all of the merchants and professional men in the city would be solicited for their part of the expense at once.

Did you ever have a coat that looked like this?

Almost every fellow has. And what a bugbear it's always been—that ill-fitting collar that never stayed where you wanted it—that always pulled down and left your shirt collar exposed to full view.

After a lot of experimenting, Society Brand has evolved a shoulder and collar treatment entirely new—one that does away with this old bugbear forever. The Snug-Ease Shoulder they call it—you'll find it in all the Society Brand Clothes for Fall, and notably in this new overcoat style. A fitted coat, with broad shoulders and wide lapels.

JOHN W. CARPENTER TAKES BIG CROWD TO INSPECT PLANT

Corsicana was host to Dallas Thursday.

Over 150 representative business men from the Metropolis to the North were guests in the city for one hour Thursday afternoon, and Corsicana turned out en masse to welcome the visitors.

The party was greeted at Union Station by a large reception committee headed by John S. Murchison, Corsicana Mayor, and Sydney Marks, president of the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce. Short talks were made by both Corsicana and Dallas citizens, following which the visitors mingled with the local citizens, renewing old acquaintances and making new. Royall's King of the Cup coffee, a Corsicana product, was served the visitors and cigars were passed around by the local Chamber organization.

The Corsicana High School pep squad added color and noise to the reception. This group of pretty girls with their attractive uniforms in high school colors, and the "Tiger" much in evidence, caused much attention and favorable comment from the visitors.

The Dallas business men were the guests of John Carpenter, president of the Texas Power and Light Company, and the Corsicana station was made on the return from Trinidad, where an inspection of the great Trinidad Generating Station was made. The visitors arrived in Corsicana Thursday morning at 10 o'clock over special interurban cars and boarded a special train over the Cotton Belt for Trinidad.

The special reached Corsicana on the return trip at 3:30 p. m. and following the hour spent in Corsicana, returned to Dallas by interurban.

The I. O. O. F. Band met the visitors at the train and dispensed music throughout the Corsicana entertainment.

Local People Make Trip.

With Mayor Murchison and President Marks, others on the reception committee included W. H. Hastings, Lowry Martin, Chas. G. Jester, F. N. Drane, W. C. Stroube, Fred Upchurch, Harrison Fendley and others. Among the Corsicana citizens who joined the Dallas party on the trip to Trinidad were, E. D. McCarver, S. J. Thiepen, W. C. Stroube, H. R. Stroube, L. A. Wortham, Lowry Martin, Charles J. Jester, Beauford Jester, Sydney Marks, Chas. H. Mills, R. L. Hamilton, W. Rev. Christian, J. S. Murchison, C. W. Taylor, Wayne Howell, J. N. Edens, John C. Calhoun, C. A. Middleton, E. L. Dupuy, Max D. Almond, H. G. Johnston, J. S. Halley, C. L. Jester, W. H. Hastings, S. D. Bomar, H. C. Ballew, S. H. Ramsey, W. M. Conner, Wayne Brown and others.

The Cotton Belt special train left Corsicana at 10:10 and arrived at Trinidad at 11:05 a. m. Before arrival at the plant each guest was given a numbered tag and for the inspection of the plant were divided into twelve groups. A special engineer guide was provided for each group and it was in this manner that the inspection of the plant was carried out. The inspection was interesting and educational, and the guides took great pleasure in explaining every detail of operation.

De Luxe Fruit Cake.

Immediately following the inspection of the generating station a barbecue luncheon was served on the lake front. Another Corsicana product of National reputation was served here as the piece de resistance, De Luxe Fruit Cake, which was greatly enjoyed.

At the conclusion of the barbecue luncheon, President John W. Carpenter of the Texas Power and Light Company, who was host to the party, thanked his guests for their presence and spoke on Texas resources and what the development of the power industry meant to the State.

President E. R. Brown of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce, and also president of the Magnolia Petroleum Company, thanked the Texas Power and Light Company for the opportunity to view the great plant, and also felicitated the State of Texas on the value of this great undertaking.

M. J. Norrell, manager of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce, spoke on what the great power plant the party had come to inspect meant to the State of Texas as a whole and the territory immediately surrounding it. In particular Mr. Norrell called the plant a miracle of mechanical engineering and a monument to the constructive work of the State.

G. A. McGregor, president of the Oak Cliff, Dallas, Chamber of Commerce, also spoke along the same lines as the preceding speakers and each of the gentlemen in reviewing the work of the Texas Power and Light Company and other features mentioned Corsicana on several occasions as having had a part in the work.

Tom Piny, Jr., of the Dallas News and Journal, offered a resolution of thanks to Dr. Cline weather observer, for the wonderful day and Dr. Cline answered the resolution by declaring that he was not responsible for the perfect day but the credit should be given where due—to the Texas Power and Light Company.

The special left Trinidad at 2:30 p. m. and arrived in Corsicana at 3:30 p. m.

The trip was a Dallas Chamber of Commerce affair as the guests of the Texas Power and Light Company.

In the party were many prominent Dallas citizens, many of whom are well known in Corsicana, some of whom Corsicana lays claim to by right of long residence and birth. Mr. Carpenter is a native of Navarro county and made his start in the electrical business in Corsicana.

E. R. Brown, president of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce, lived in Corsicana many years and is well known in this city.

The engineers taking the visitors through the big plant were interesting talkers and that they were thoroughly familiar with every detail of operation was evidenced by the pleasing manner in which they explained various details to the visitors.

Here's some of the things they told the visitors:

The Plant Site.

The Trinidad station is located in Henderson county, on the east bank of the Trinity River, one mile south of the Cotton Belt Railroad, 55 miles from Dallas, 22 miles from Corsicana and one and one-half miles from the town of Trinidad.

The plant site, including the lake, contains 1,600 acres, or approximately two and one-half square miles. The lake covers an area of 650 acres. In the plant site are located the station building, railroad yards, lignite storage yard, reservoir, outdoor electrical yards, pumping plant, intake and discharge channels and employees' village.

At the time the lake site was selected, it was regarded as waste land. It was located in the overflow area, much of it being under water during the rainy season each year. Most of the lake site was heavily wooded with a brushy undergrowth. Thus the land had to be cleared before it could be utilized for constructive purposes.

This particular site was selected because of its favorable location from the standpoint of fuel and water supply, an adequate supply of water, as well as of fuel, being a prime requisite in the operation of such a plant.

The site was selected in July, 1924. Actual construction of the plant was started in March, 1925. The plant began operating in June, 1926.

Lake and Water System.

The artificial lake at the Trinidad Station is large enough to supply the entire water needs of a city of 250,000 population for a period of two months, without rainfall or other replenishment. The lake covers an area of 650 acres, or more than one square mile, and has a capacity of 1,600,000,000 gallons of water.

The lake is 40 feet above low water in the Trinity River, from which its store of water is drawn. A concrete pump house was erected on the banks of the river, with two electric pumps, each with a capacity of 11,000 gallons a minute, which pump water from the river into the lake to keep it at a constant level.

The lake was constructed by building a levee, two and one-eighth miles in length, across two sides of a natural slough in the land. This levee is 22 feet high and the average depth of the lake is 8 feet.

The lake is connected to the plant by an intake channel, 125 feet in width. Built into the foundation below the station floor are two tunnels, ten feet wide and eleven feet high, through which the water reaches the circulating pumps. The water is drawn into the plant through the intake canal at one end of the lake and discharged through a canal to the other end of the lake.

The important part of the water plays in the operation of the Trinidad plant is better appreciated when it is known that 400 tons of water are used to each ton of lignite. This water is used for condensing the steam exhaust from the turbines.

Power Plant Building.

The building which houses the generating equipment is comparable with an eight-story office building. It stands 112 feet above the ground level and is 125 feet long and 216 feet wide. The main floor is eight feet below the ground surface and is a solid slab of reinforced concrete, ranging in thickness from three to eight feet. This slab rests on concrete caissons, twenty feet in diameter, reaching thirty feet deep.

The total weight sustained by this foundation is more than 60,000,000 pounds.

In constructing the building more than 28,000 cubic yards of concrete, 1,500,000 pounds of reinforcing steel and 3,000,000 pounds of structural steel were used. The superstructure of the building is made of structural steel, faced with red brick and trimmed with gray terra cotta. There are more than a million bricks in the outside walls. In wall of the plant is made of corrugated asbestos sheeting so that it may be more easily removed when additional units are installed.

The interior of the building is divided by partitions into compartments for a lignite preparation bay, boiler room, turbine room, machine shop and office.

The two chimneys or smokestacks on top of the building are the tallest in Texas, reaching 400 feet above the ground. They have an inside diameter of 12 feet at the top and 16 feet at the bottom, and weigh 3,400,000 pounds each. They rest entirely on the boiler room roof which was especially constructed to carry this load.

As a basis of comparison as to height, the Magnolia Building, in Dallas, is 415 feet high.

The Boilers.

The Trinidad plant has four boilers, each of which is enclosed in a settling thirty feet square and eighty feet high from the basement floor. The four boilers will evaporate 85,000 gallons of water an hour, producing a steam pressure of 425 pounds to the square inch with a temperature of 750 degrees Fahrenheit. At this temperature, steam begins to glow a dull red in the dark. The boilers are of sufficient size to provide steam for the 54,000 horsepower in turbines, with one boiler out of service.

VALUE

Value should be the base of all commercial transactions. Quality a second consideration.

Know what you want to use a thing for and buy the quality that fits it.

Don't buy a fur overcoat to cross the Equator in, or a bathing suit to spend the winter in Alaska.

Don't buy a pop corn popper to bake light bread in, or a biscuit cutter to cut your dress out with.

Buy the things to use that were made to use for the purpose and be sure you get value.

MAN SENTENCED 99 YEARS GRANTED PARDON BY WOMAN

By Associated Press.
Austin, Texas, Nov. 2.—Governor Moody's revocation of conditional pardon granted by former Governor Miriam A. Ferguson to Grattan Davenport, convicted of murder and sentenced to 99 years, from Tom Green county, was upheld today by the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Moody revoked the pardon, because it originally was issued on the condition that Davenport be remanded to an insane asylum and he allegedly did not go.

The court today denied Davenport habeas corpus proceedings. Davenport's attorneys attacked Moody's action on the ground that Davenport having been pronounced insane by Mrs. Ferguson, was incapable of violating provisions of any sort of clemency.

WIND AND RAIN OVER WHEAT AND CORN BELT AREAS

By Associated Press.
Chicago, Nov. 2.—Violent wind and rain storms over a large portion of the wheat and corn belts yesterday and last night, ended the summer weather which had prevailed for some time. Temperatures dropped in some States as much as 25 degrees in a few hours. It was not believed that the storms had done any crop damage as the harvest is well under way in corn and almost over in the wheat belt. The rain might possibly delay field work to some extent.

Wind and Rain At Wichita Falls

Wichita Falls, Texas, Nov. 2.—A wind and rainstorm here last night probably caused damage to cotton. The precipitation amounted to 1.47 inches and the wind attained a velocity of 40 miles an hour.

JARDINE ADMITS CARRY-OVER FIGURE WAS NOT OFFICIAL

By Associated Press.
Washington, Nov. 1.—The department of agriculture's cotton carry-over estimate of about 7,800,000 bales as of July 31 "was not official in the sense of having been entirely compiled from data gathered under governmental supervision," Secretary Jardine said in a statement today.

There has been considerable controversy over the estimate made public September 15, which was followed by a drop in the price of cotton.

Secretary Jardine has stood by the figures compiled by his department and in reply explained the source of the statistics used. Today's statement followed a conference between the Secretary and an official of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange.

"With reference to the use of a cotton carry-over figure of about 7,800,000 bales in a report issued by the Department on September 15 it should be noticed that this calculation was made in part from figures furnished by the United States Census Bureau and in part from private agencies, foreign and domestic, in the cotton trade," is said.

"Of the figures used 3,663,000 bales, or approximately 47 per cent of the total, were the official figures of the Bureau of the Census and the remaining bales, or approximately 53 per cent, were taken from private sources. It will therefore, be seen that the figure of 7,800,000 bales was not official in the sense of having been entirely compiled from data gathered under governmental supervision."

OPENED BUSINESS CORSICANA FIFTY YEARS AGO TUESDAY

W. H. (Billy) Barth, opened a butcher business in Corsicana 50 years ago yesterday (Tuesday), he stated in conversation with a Daily Sun reporter. Mr. Barth stated that he came to Corsicana three years previous to this date, and then went to Dallas, looking for a good location. Dallas, at that time, was not much more than a mud hole. Mr. Barth stated, and he returned to Corsicana, deciding that this was the better town of the two to start his business.

Mr. Barth conducted his meat market for many years at the stand on North Main street, next to the alley on the east side of the street and that building was used as a meat market up until a year ago. The success met by Mr. Barth while engaged in business here demonstrated he made no mistake when he returned to Corsicana and opened business.

Employees' Village
As a part of the Trinidad project an ideal employees' village has been built on the north shore of the lake. All homes are of modern type and equipped with all modern conveniences, including electric ranges, hot water heaters and other labor-saving devices.

The company also cooperates with the school trustees of Trinidad in constructing a new and modern district school building located between the plant site and the town of Trinidad.

The lake, which has an area of 650 acres, or more than one square mile, adds greatly to the delight of living in Trinidad. It affords a pleasant view of the great around, supplies delicious brook trout throughout the warm weather, and affords many pleasures known and appreciated by lovers of water.

Visualizing Trinidad Station.
The Trinidad Steam Electric Generating Station has an ultimate capacity of 160,000 kilowatts—sufficient to serve a city of 1,000,000 population, furnishing current for all domestic, commercial and industrial users, including lighting the streets, operating the street railway system, turning the wheels of diverse manufacturing plants, etc. To better appreciate a capacity to serve 1,000,000 population, it may be recalled that this is approximately one-fifth of the total population of Texas today, and serving a population of 1,000,000 with electricity means not only serving the homes with all modern conveniences, but serving these people in their businesses, professions, amusements, serving the many factories and factories required to make up modern life.

According to the census of 1920, it would require the following Texas cities to make up a city having 1,000,000 population: San Antonio, Dallas, Houston, Fort Worth, Waco, Beaumont, Wichita Falls, El Paso, Galveston, Amarillo, Port Arthur, Corsicana, Greenville, Paris, Palestine, San Angelo, Sherman, Tyler, Texarkana, Temple, Denison, Waxahatchie and Hillsboro. The first two units of the Trinidad plant generates 54,000 horsepower, while the ultimate development will provide 215,000 horsepower. The present development is sufficient to burn 650,000 incandescent lamps at one time, or operate 180 cotton mills requiring an average of 50 horsepower.

At the very instant a "horsepower" is required in some remote section of the country, at exactly

WINNERS ANNOUNCED IN PUZZLE CONTEST ADVERTISED IN SUN

There were four winners in the Semi-Weekly Morning Light puzzle contest, which came to a close Oct. 28. The four winners, sending in their correct answers at the same time, thereby causing the $100 cash prize to be divided equally among them. These winners were Mrs. Duke Ransom, Mabel Dell Trimble, Alvin Marky John Leslie Yates, these being the first four winners that came in at the same time out of one hundred and thirty-one correct answers sent in.

These winners will not get cash each by applying at the Daily Sun office any time Wednesday or thereafter.

While this little puzzle contest put on by the Light only lasted a few days it was surprising how much interest was taken in it throughout the city, and country, there being over five hundred answers sent in during the contest immediately upon the receipt of the answers, the date and time received were put on the envelope, the answers all being opened after the contest closed. The cash prize of $100 was then for the first correct answer sent in to the puzzle.

In going over the answers in the contest it was amusing to see the many answers and in many instances the party sending in the answer to the puzzle was complimentary in behalf of the progressiveness of the Semi-Weekly Morning Light, all of which was appreciated very much by the publishers. There were answers received as far away as Houston, Mexico, Whitehouse, Taylor, Dallas, Ennis, Hillsboro and several other sections.

Included in the answers were guesses that the 5 for 3 and 3 for 2 applied to the new Ford models that will be out soon, golf balls photos by Parks Studio photos by Tessie Dickson Studios, fire insurance policies, rent houses, dummy ducks and birds Christmas photos, tickets to Little Theatre special sale of Jarrell-Elliott Dry that same instant, miles away, enormous generating units must respond immediately to the demand. Men of vision must plan, design and build as far as three years in advance of actual requirements if they are to satisfy the demand. The Trinidad Generating Station is the realization of a vision, coupled with a knowledge of the future of Texas. The Trinidad Station may be regarded not only as a means of efficient service to existing industries, but a means of influencing the location and building of new industries in the territory served. One of the factors that prompted the building of this station was that it would materially aid in the industrial development of Texas.

The contest was a great success and for the past two weeks everybody has been talking about it and looking forward to the announcement of the winners. The fact that the Light has put on this special subscription offer for a short time is meeting with much favor by the people of the county as already many new subscriptions have come in.

The ladies of the churches and schools of the county are already making up their minds to take this special offer and from all indications they will turn in many new subscribers to the Light thereby making some big money for the activities of their organizations. The winners of this contest will please call at the Daily Sun for their money at any time they wish.

INTEREST IN GOOD ROADS RUNS HIGH IN NAVARRO COUNTY

ELECTION IN PURDON DISTRICT MONDAY; IN RICE DISTRICT DECEMBER 3

With the Purdon road district election coming next Monday, the Rice district election coming December 3rd, and the resident engineer of the State Highway Department arriving in Corsicana this week, the plans for construction of modern highways in Consolidated District Number 1, Navarro County, is rapidly making the greatest strides in her history toward a modern highway program. Reports coming from the Purdon and Rice districts are very favorable for the successful outcome of the elections.

Strong indications of some action in the Blooming Grove and Frost communities are being received. County Commissioner Collins, while recently in Blooming Grove, was asked by citizens of that community as to his suggestion for developing highways in the west section of the county and the Commissioner suggested that the same plan being followed in the Rice and Purdon Districts might well be considered. As a matter of fact, road interest is strong throughout the County and with the coming winter rains and impassable mud stretches there seems to be but little doubt that those portions of the County that do not at present have definite plans will begin to get together in some sort of road program.

County-Wide Idea Growing
Citizens of the county who give thoughtful attention to matters of progress see an inevitable handwriting on the wall that it is only a matter of time until citizens of our county will insist on a county-wide road election. Those districts which already have road plans under way are confident that they will materially gain by having already voted bonds and laid out their roads whenever a countywide program is undertaken.

As one thoughtful citizen of the Purdon section said, "We might as well go ahead and build the roads we want and get the advantage of planning these roads to our liking instead of waiting for a countywide election and having to take what we can get. Having voted our precinct bonds we get the double advantage whenever the county votes as a whole of having our bonds absorbed and beforehand getting what we want."

Boost to Farming
In the opinion of those working on good roads in the various sections of the county there is no one thing which will mean more to the convenience of their people and the prosperous stimulation of the farming communities like this matter of surfaced highways. Other Texas communities have found that with surfaced highways leading through farming communities that the whole trend of farming has been bettered. The farmer who has an all-weather road to market finds that he saves about fifty per cent in the maintenance of his trucks and cars, a lot of his time, and such things as cream routes, school busses and increased interest in poultry and other farming side line crops inevitably follow.

The United States Department of Agriculture reports indicate that concrete highways are about the best friends the farmer and his family have, and the Government has gone on record as observing that good roads, economically built, actually pay for themselves and that the community which does not have good roads actually pays for pavement by increased expenses in transportation whether they have pavement or not.

The eyes of Navarro County are on the Purdon and Rice Districts in their forthcoming elections and a successful ballot will bring to those communities the good will and admiration of the rest of the county.

A. M. Teague of Moss, Okla., Tells How Inabine Cured Him.

I had suffered from kidney and bladder trouble for four or five years, and had been treated by a number of physicians, but got only temporary relief; had also taken many kinds of patent medicines, none of which benefited me.

My sister, who lives near Corsicana, sent me a bottle of INABINE, asking me to take it, as it had cured many people whom she knew that she was confident it would cure me. I began to improve after the first few doses, and before I had taken the first bottle my trouble was entirely removed.

LOCAL PYTHIAN LODGE WILL VISIT ENNIS NOV. 14TH

HIGH OFFICIALS OF ORDER AND OTHER PYTHIANS GUESTS LOCAL LODGE

Corsicana Lodge No. 435, Knights of Pythias, had as their guest Tuesday night at their regular meeting several Knights from Ennis Lodge and Past Grand Chancellor Chas. Baughman, who is doing special field work for the Pythian order in Texas.

The local lodge accepted an invitation to confer the Page Rank on a class of thirty on Monday Nov. 14, at Ennis and a large delegation of members from Corsicana will make the trip by autos, weather permitting, otherwise the interurban will be used.

The Page Rank team of the local lodge has gained quite a reputation over the State for the manner in which they confer this beautiful rank work and many invitations have been received from lodges to confer this work for them.

Hon. Chas. Baughman made a short address along Pythian lines stating that much activity is being staged by lodges over the State and a large increase is expected at the close of the present semi-annual term.

I. R. Allen, one of the directors of the Pythian Home at Weatherford, made a talk, outlining the conditions at the Home and it was encouraging to note the wonderful work being done at this Home.

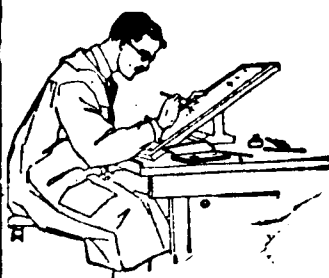

Other talks were enjoyed from C. C. Miller, Chancellor Commander of Ennis Lodge, and H. Watts, Past Chancellor.

The local lodge voted to adopt the program of Supreme Chancellor Witt for the winter months.

The program issued by the head of the Order is the result of a survey made covering the relation of fraternity to social and civic life and outlines a plan of work in which the local lodge is divided into committee groups, each group responsible to the lodge for the functioning of a particular line of development.

While the universal program covers a number of distinctive objectives, including membership growth, reinstatement of delinquent members, visitation, co-operation with the Pythian Sisters; building an organization of the Princes of Syracuse for boys 14 and 15 years of age, and an outline on how a lodge may participate in civic affairs, the local lodge has designated two of the major objectives of the program for immediate action. These objectives will be to add new members and secure as many reinstatements and transfers as possible in the next few weeks to swell the already nice gain in membership made by No. 435 under the able leadership of Chancellor Commander Fred Upchurch.

Mr. Upchurch is now making a survey of the membership and studying suitable committees to be named at the next regular meeting when every member is expected to be present and assist in making this program the blazest success in the history of the local lodge.

Glare-proof Glasses for Builders

CORPORATION TAX CUT ADVOCATED BY RAILWAY OWNERS

By Associated Press.

Washington, Nov. 2.—With views of the administration, the United States Chamber of Commerce and a group of national business organizations already placed in its record on the subject of tax reduction in general, the House Ways and Means Committee today sought specific recommendations regarding prospective downward revision of the corporation levy.

Alfred B. Thorn, representing the Association of Railway Executives, the first witness today, urged the committee to devote paramount attention to reduction of the corporation tax as did C. S. Duncan, representing the same organization. Duncan advocated reduction of the rate to 10 per cent, declaring the federal tax paid by class I railroads in 1926 amounted to $109,817,491.

PART OF HOME RULE CHARTER OF WACO IS UNCONSTITUTIONAL

By Associated Press.

Austin, Texas, Nov. 2.—A section of Waco's home rule charter was held unconstitutional and the validity of its successful election ordering a $3,500,000 bond issue for a city water supply dam on the Bosque river was upheld in a Supreme court decision Wednesday. Answering certified questions from the Waco Court of Civil Appeals, the Supreme Court held invalid that part of the city charter seeking to bar voters whose names had not appeared on the preceding tax roll.

W. W. Cameron and the other appellants, in a suit against Mayor F. Connally and others attempted to knock out the bond election on the grounds that many voters were not qualified under the charter provisions. The election had been upheld in District Court. It carried by 178 votes.

INDIGESTION GONE

Tennessean Was Worried Considerably Until, on Advice of An Acquaintance, He Began To Use Black-Draught.

Sewanee, Tenn.—"For several years," says Mr. J. L. Russell, of this place, "I suffered continuously with spells of indigestion. Everything I ate disagreed with me, and I was in a bad way."

"Nothing did me any good until I found Black-Draught. One day a man in a store where we traded told me to try Black-Draught. He said he knew of it relieving indigestion, so I decided to give it a trial."

"In my case it seemed to go right to the very root of my trouble. It straightened me out, and ever since that time, over thirty years ago, I have used Black-Draught."

"When I have a spell of indigestion coming on, I begin on Black-Draught. I take several small doses, in a regular course, and I find it will usually have me well in less than no time. Now I never suffer—I take Black-Draught."

"I also found it fine to break up a bad cold. In the winter time, I always keep a box handy, so when I sneeze, or feel chilly down my spine, I take a few doses of Black-Draught, and that wards off the cold."
